IMAGES OF FUTURE ST. LUKE FACILITY UNVEILED

A gym filled with students, parents, school and board staff erupted with cheers as architect Jean Larocque unveiled the images of the future St. Luke School facility.

The virtual tour showed that not only will the new facility be built for the 21st century learner, but in line with current green initiatives as well. Some of the new facility's green features will include sun louvers, rain harvesting, and a reflective roof.

The entire school community has spent the past year preparing for its overall new "look". The Toro has been selected as the new St. Luke mascot and the official school colours are red and black. The school officially opens in September 2011 at 1516 McKeown Avenue, the site of the former Sacred Heart School. For more photos, visit www.npsc.ca.

THIS SILVER IS MADE OF GOLD

Tim Silver didn't run the fastest or jump the farthest to earn his gold. Over the course of his secondary school career, the Grade 12 St. Joseph-Scollard Hall student donated over 750 hours of his time to various causes in his school and broader communities.

Tim is SJSH's latest student to earn the Gold Pin. It represents the highest level of the Duke of Edinburgh Awards, a self-development program equipping youth with life skills as they make a difference to themselves, their community, their country, and in Tim's case, other countries. He is heading to Costa Rica for ten days in July where he and 14 other SJSH students, 10 chaperones and 5 staff will begin the next phase in building a drug and alcohol rehab centre for teens and donate school supplies and toiletries to two Catholic elementary schools in Sarchi and Grand Llano. By the end of this project, Tim will have contributed approximately 1000 hours to community service.

On June 10, SJSH Duke lead Andy Hazelwood and city councilor Chris Mayne presented Tim his Gold Pin in front of a class full of students, teachers and board administrators. "Wear that with pride," Hazelwood said to Silver. "You've earned it."

For Tim, the life lessons he gained in the Duke program are the most valuable reward.

"My experiences have changed me and I'm a better person because of it," he said. "Seeing how grateful the students in Costa Rica were (last year) to receive little erasers and calculators helped me realize how fortunate we are and that we must always try to help those who are less fortunate."

Minister of Education Visits St. Hubert School for Launch of Book Co-Authored by NPSC Principal

If you haven't already read or heard of Patrick's Wish, chances are you will in the 2010-2011 school year. Co-authored by St. Hubert Principal, Karen Mitchell, the book tells the story of North Bay's Patrick Fortin who contracted HIV as a hemophiliac child and whose biggest wish was for a world with zero AIDS. Before speaking at the book launch, Minister of Education Leona Dombrowsky toured St. Hubert school and experienced Virtues Education in action through various classroom activities. Photo at left: Minister Dombrowsky and Nipissing MPP Monique Smith are greeted by St. Hubert students Logan Cloutier, SK (in white), and Brady Villeneuve, JK, (in red).

Civics Class with Expert Guest

This was no ordinary civics lesson for St. Victor students in Mrs. Dumont's Grade 5 class. In April, the students learned about Canadian government directly from Nipissing-Temiskaming Member of Parliament, Anthony Rota. His current public service portfolio also includes Chair of the National Liberal Caucus, and Vice-Chair of the House of Commons Standing Committee on Industry, Science and Technology.

Even Rock Stars Can Bake!

The students in Ms. Trisha Lamothe's Food and Nutrition class at St. Joseph-Scollard Hall Catholic Secondary School challenged each other to a cake contest. The cakes were displayed to the entire school community and judged by SJSH staff. The winning cake was a replica of a Pearl brand drum designed and created by students and music lovers Logan Fraser, Jesse Shoults, Raven Hill, and Nicholas Larocque.

Learning to Prevent Bullying

Intermediate students across the Nipissing-Parry Sound Catholic District School Board travelled to St. Theresa School in Callander in May for a safe schools presentation focussed on anti-bullying. The students watched and some volunteered to participate as actors in various scenarios where certain dialogues and approaches were shown to prevent bullying from occurring.

Giving Back on Earth Day

John XXIII students took some time out of their schedule on Earth Day to give Mother Earth some special attention. The students worked together with teachers in a school yard and neighbourhood cleanup.
